ABSTRACT

A computerized system includes a rating engine and a balance manager. The balance manager maintains a database having accounts, where the accounts have an account balance. The balance manager is operative to receive event data, calculate a reservation amount based 5   on the event data, determine a service unit quantity based on the reservation amount, and reserve the reservation amount against the pre-paid account.